

Director of Sustainability Advisory (with Equity track)

What working at MzN is like	Essential Qualifications
We built a no red-tape, no-politics, maximum-freedom work house & culture with clear alignment and modern tools, based on self-responsibility and accountability, run by OKRs	Demonstrated business development experience and capacity
Work anywhere, anytime as much & as little as you like	Capable of driving an independent workstream within the context of a broader team
Remuneration: comp. Salary + a fair revenue split for the new stream or equity buy-in.	Comfortable with ambiguous, ever-changing situations
Supported by a fully staffed project support & corporate management suite (finance, marketing, PR and tech)	Can-do attitude and familiar with working in agile, remote work culture

Following strong growth we are seeking a (global or regional) leader to develop and expand our sustainability advisory offering to the private sector. This start-up stream adds to our well-established non-profit advisory services globally and is foreseen to become a major additional growth area within 12 month.

As the first non-founding Director to MzN, you'll have considerable responsibilities and autonomy, such as developing lasting client relationships, being a major contributor to MzN's growth, defining innovative strategies and achieving results.

The right person will have a large, relevant network of contacts, possibly bring in existing clients and have a clearly demonstrated leadership in the field of Sustainability transformation advisory. We offer a fair revenue split on the new stream or a buy-in equity opportunity.
